

The Great Rendezvous

The Great Rendezvous at Fort William was a busy gathering where voyageurs, traders, and families came together after months of travel. In the evenings, people celebrated with music, and lively dancing and jigs accompanied by the fiddle. The Rendezvous was a time to share stories, enjoy good company, and celebrate the end of a long journey.

