

Arriving at Fort William

As the voyageurs approached Fort William, canoes converged to race the last stretch towards the wharf. Songs filled the air, some flew the company flag as musket or small cannon fire announced their arrival. Family and friends at the Fort gathered around to welcome them.

